Priti is a summer student at BLG's Toronto office for the 2023 summer term.

As a law student, Priti is a Divisional Leader at Downtown Legal Services where she advocates for low-income family law clients facing issues of custody, access, and support at the Ontario Court of Justice.

She also serves on the editorial board at U of T's Law Review, volunteers with the South Asian Law Student's Association, and competed in the Callaghan Moot this past year.

Priti chose to work at BLG because of the firm's commitment to diversity and inclusion initiatives. After chatting with several of BLG's associates and students, Priti was impressed with their comments on the firm's collaborative culture and the opportunity for students to gain meaningful experiences in a wide variety of practice areas.

In her spare time, Priti enjoys staying active through dance, baking new recipes and sharing her creations with friends and family.

Education

- JD, University of Toronto, 2024 (expected)
- BMSc, University of Western Ontario, 2019
